

DHH Insights Series

bit.ly/RDHH-12-09-25

December 9, 2025 | 12-1 p.m. | Online

DHH Insights: Collecting Data that Matters for DHH Learners

Determining what data truly drives instruction and supports progress for students who are deaf/hard of hearing (DHH) can be challenging. This session will guide you in the process of selecting meaningful data, connecting it to student goals, and using it to enhance instruction, track growth, and improve outcomes.

bit.ly/RDHH-01-13-26

January 13, 2026 | 12-1 p.m. | Online

DHH Insights: Quality Report Writing Made Practical

Writing clear, accurate, and useful reports can be time-intensive and complex. This session will provide practical tools and strategies to help educators streamline the report-writing process while maintaining high standards. Participants will learn how to professionally and effectively communicate student data, progress, and recommendations.

bit.ly/RDHH-3-10-26

March 10, 2026 | 12-1 p.m. | Online

DHH Insights: Practical Strategies for Writing Effective IEP Goals

Developing effective individualized education program (IEP) goals is critical for guiding instruction and monitoring student progress, yet the process can be challenging. This session will provide practical tools and tips for developing clear, measurable, and individualized goals that align with student needs and promote meaningful outcomes. Participants will explore strategies for writing goals that are both well-crafted and instructionally relevant.